Americans deserve a commonsense immigration process - the time is NOW!

Americans overwhelmingly support commonsense immigration reform that includes the following components:

- Creates a roadmap for 11 million Americans who aspire to be citizens;
- Secures rights and protections for all workers;
- Keeps families together.

There exists a bipartisan majority in the House that would support a path to citizenship if it came for a vote. All the House leadership needs is the will to schedule it.

So why is it taking so long to get a bill passed? Opponents—mostly Republicans—are playing politics instead of doing what is best for Americans.

The American people are tired of our elected leaders playing political games with issues that impact our families, businesses, and communities. We want elected officials to be leaders and solve problems.

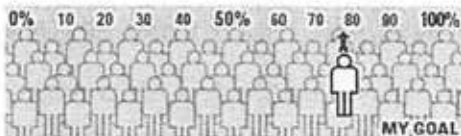

Now the question for Republicans is - what will they do to fix our broken immigration system? Will they continue to play politics and set goal posts for excessive border measures that can never be reached or will they work toward a real solution that recognizes the 11 million aspiring citizens waiting to become full members of our society?

The time has come for immigration reform with a path to citizenship and all of us – Latino, Asian, immigrant voters, along with faith communities, business owners, and the majority of Americans – are expecting action from the House of Representatives this summer.

Take action now! Send a message to Congress and the President that we support comprehensive immigration reform. Click here to Send your message.

Americans deserve a commonsense immigration process. The time is now!

I support legislation that will:

*Create a roadmap for 11 million Americans who aspire to be citizens;

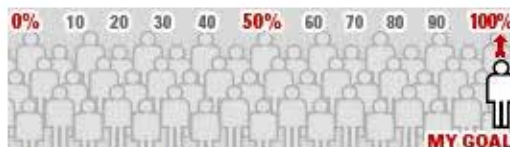

*Secure rights and protections for all workers;

Keep families together.

As Americans, we all do our part to contribute and we're better off for having hardworking immigrants as contributing members of our community. This is what America is all about.

Sincerely,
